Roberts Energy, Financial Narrative for LPVEC Bid

Roberts Energy is a Massachusetts based limited liability company, headquartered in Springfield, MA. The business was incorporated in August of 2016 and operational on November 1st, 2016. In late 2016, F.L. Roberts & Co., Inc. divested its retail assets including its gas stations, car washes, and Jiffy Lubes, in order to facilitate the retirement of its majority shareholder, Steven Roberts. Frank Roberts, great-grandson of the founder, purchased the remaining wholesale, commercial fuel, and transportation businesses. The business was spun off into two entities: Roberts Energy, LLC a fuel supplier, and Brown Bear Transportation, LLC, a common carrier of motor fuels and heating fuels.

Roberts Energy, LLC currently supplies over 1000 commercial customers in seven states, including portions of the current LPVEC bid. The company is a shipper on the Jetline, a pipeline owned by Buckeye Pipeline, that ships fuel from New Haven harbor, up to its terminus at Westover ARB. The company also owns and manages a terminal in Springfield, MA, with storage capacity of 40,000 barrels, and distributes diesel fuel, dyed diesel fuel, heating oils, as well as kerosene, premium and winter blends of all products. It operates its own truck fleet with a combined 70 trucks and 100 drivers.

The company maintains supply relationships with most major suppliers, and has a multitude of supply deals in place that include index deals, rack deals, spot purchases, and fixed forward contracts. Roberts Energy maintains its own commodities account with R.J. O'Brien for the specific purpose of hedging inventory that is in tank or in transit, and securing fixed-price forward contracts for its customers. The account is active and in good standing, and trading occurs on a daily basis.

The company recently signed a new banking agreement for $18.3M, including a $10M line of credit to support the working capital of the business. The company anticipates selling 80 million gallons of fuel in 2020, and transporting another 500 million gallons through its trucking division. It anticipates revenues of $150M for Roberts Energy, and $15M for Brown Bear Transportation.
